The insurance industry is evolving rapidly in a volatile and complex environment. Actuarial departments play a crucial role in navigating these changes, making modernisation essential for improving efficiency, meeting regulatory demands, and driving strategic insights.

Recent PwC Global Actuarial Modernisation Survey featured strong participation from Luxembourg insurance clients. At our upcoming conference, we will explore the survey's key findings, comparing global trends with local perspectives. We will examine areas where Luxembourg aligns with broader industry shifts and where unique market dynamics create different priorities.

A major focus of the survey was the role of technology, tools, upskilling, and efficiency in actuarial transformation. We will discuss how these themes apply in different markets, including Luxembourg, and what they mean for the future of actuarial functions.

Join us for an insightful discussion on how actuarial modernisation is evolving worldwide and what it means for your business
